Domus Hops and Loop collections

Exhibiting an artisanal, handcrafted character, the new Hops and Loop tiles from flooring specialist Domus display surface textures and details that embrace a handmade aesthetic, and can be used individually or combined.

Loop (pictured) is intended to be a more tactile product with a textural look that replicates the appearance of end-grain wood flooring. Available in a black or white natural finish, the character and irregularities of wood are key aspects of the design and it can be supplied in one regular size or a modular mix.

The single-shape Hops range is available in an achromatic palette of three colours – Bianco, Grigio and Nero – with the choice of a matte or lux finish.

Curiousa & Curiousa ▲ The Snowdrop

Bespoke lighting company Curiousa & Curiousa has unveiled its latest bathroom lighting addition, The Snowdrop.

Inspired by the flowers growing in her own Derbyshire garden, designer Esther Patterson sought to combine the simple and elegant curves of petals with the gentle translucency of semi-opaque white glass, although the pendant can also be created in 21 other colours.

The resulting hand-blown glass pendant is intended to 'express the purity' of the snowdrop and emits a soft, subtle glow. In addition to wet areas, the gentle fitting would be well suited to a range of tranquil interior spa spaces.

Fashionizer Spa ▼ New eco uniforms

Displaying its ongoing commitment to sustainability, Fashionizer Spa has launched three new spa uniform options that are manufactured from environmentally-friendly and sustainable fabrics.

Said to be both light and flexible, the new pieces are made from 52% Tencel, which is produced using wood pulp, and 45% PET New Life, a polyester yarn produced from recycled plastic bottles; Lycra makes up the remaining 3%.

The new collection includes a jumpsuit (below right) as well as a tunic and trousers (below left), and the eco-textile they are made from has been developed especially for Fashionizer.

Grand Design Blinds ▲ Bespoke Duette blackout blinds

A specialist creator of shades and screens, Grand Design Blinds supplies a wide range of products that incorporate its versatile Duette pleated blackout fabric.

A layer of air is trapped between the two pleated layers of material from which Duette is made, providing insulation as well as sound absorption, making it ideal for treatment rooms. The range is available in sheer, translucent and blackout versions, and a range of textures and finishes to provide the right level of privacy and customisation.

When not in use, the blinds can be retracted to sit almost invisibly at the bottom of the window. They can also be installed with an operating system that allows them to be controlled from a phone app or tablet.
